Hi guys,

As it gets colder and colder outside every day, we thought a new teaser of what we are working on with WAKFU Season 3 would be a welcome way to warm us up!

Here is a little sneak peek of the Brotherhood of the Tofu's next adventures:

The first episodes - well as the whole season in fact - are still in production. We are continuing to look for partners on this third season. Our main concern is to keep on working without artistic compromises, like we did for both seasons and for the OAVs.

Two years ago, you guys helped us get to the US market. It has been a tremendous step for us and we can still feel its impact today. For example, in the following days we will be releasing our online game DOFUS on Steam in the US and Canada, and guess what's coming with it? The movie DOFUS - Book I: Julith!

Our animation studio has improved a lot and any time we can show that to the world, it's partly thanks to you. We don't plan to stop with Steam in the US, and we hope that wherever you are, in Asia or Europe or Latin America, you will also be able to see the movie soon. It's quite complicated to forecast exactly what will happen because everything is linked to the movie's broadcasting rights (and believe us when we say it's a mess), but we will succeed! :D

We will probably organize a little contest very soon - a quiz perhaps - and the winners will receive a Steam key to see the movie (and we are deeply sorry in advance but this will be only accessible for those of you in the USA or in Canada).

But with all this good news, everything is not solved as easily as it seems! That's why during November, we are launching a new special operation for our players. We are proposing brand new items on our video games and the money raised with these items will be invested in season 3. You can find more info in the link at the end of the teaser above if you want to take a look.

Stay tuned, and as always, thank you for your ongoing support!
